

UrbaChina Newsletter

UrbaChina, a FP7 programme coordinated by CNRS-EHESS

2013-52 (December)

Employment and wages of migrant workers
edited by Monique Abud

The post presents three studies dealing with employment and wages issues concerning migrant workers in China.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8066>

Chinese statistics: how to understand them
edited by Monique Abud

Official statistics are widely used in the field of China studies but are not often well understood. This article 'first clarifies three major issues that affect a wide range of Chinese statistics and then offers a gateway to a wealth of Chinese statistics whose existence is not widely known'.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8099>

Opera in the park
written by Miguel Elosua

A former factory worker and amateur Peking opera performer in Qianling park (黔灵公园), Guiyang, November 2013.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8158>

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/>

urbachina-edition@services.cnrs.fr

UrbaChina Newsletter

Green food development in China: focus on the east

edited by Jacqueline Nivard

The purpose of the dissertation is to research how to promote green food consumption in eastern China. The research draws attention to certain main factors affecting green food consumption which are income and education levels and ages.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8127>

Safe food for thought for the holiday season

edited by Jacqueline Nivard

Safe food for thought for the holiday season

In the lead up to the holidays, much will be written about how we, as consumers, can safely prepare food to ensure that friends and family remember a wonderful holiday meal and not the bout of food poisoning that landed a loved one in the emergency room.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8073>

French 'spiderman' scales 288m-tall building in China.

edited by Sebastien Goulard

French "spiderman" Alan Robert successfully scaled the 288-meter tall building with bare hands in Shaoxing.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8156>

UrbaChina Newsletter

Funded under the European Commission's Seventh Framework Programme, UrbaChina is a collaborative project managed by a consortium of 11 leading Chinese and European research institutions. UrbaChina analyses China's urbanisation trends for the next 40 years and define possible future scenarios with reference to concepts of sustainability.

Members:

- CNRS
- East China Normal University
- Development Research Centre
- University of Birmingham
- Chinese Academy of Social Sciences
- LSE
- Chinese Academy of Sciences
- ISIS
- University of Lisbon
- People's University
- Anhui academy of Environmental Science Research