

UrbaChina Newsletter

UrbaChina, a FP7 programme coordinated by CNRS-EHESS

2014-1 (January)

Old industrial cities seeking new road of industrialization
edited by Monique Abud

This book aims to investigate how cities in China's rust belt restructure their urban industries and economies.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8017>

How urban housing demand can be met in China
edited by Monique Abud

Housing recommendations about housing demand in urban China. An article by Sören Gottschalch.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8103>

Frontiers of Education in China
edited by Jacqueline Nivard

Volume 8.4 of Frontiers of Education in China, a journal published by Brill and dedicated to Chinese education, is now available.

<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8235>

UrbaChina Newsletter

“No Smoking” for the nation: Anti-cigarette campaigns in Modern China, 1910-1935
edited by by Jacqueline Nivard

“No Smoking” for the nation: Anti-cigarette campaigns in Modern China, 1910-1935
Dissertation by Wennan Liu, graduate from Fudan University in Shanghai and PhD from Department of History at University of California, Berkeley.
<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8184>

Happy New Year from UrbaChina blog
written by Jacqueline Nivard

Photo taken by Miguel Elosua in Huangshan (January 2006).
<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8217>

Chinese officials are asked to “take the lead” in adhering to the smoking ban in public spaces
edited by Jacqueline Nivard

According to a circular from the Communist Party of China Central Committee and the State Council, officials are not allowed to smoke in schools, hospitals, sports venues, public transport vehicles, or any other venues where smoking is banned.
<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8178>

Education, the key to success
written by Sebastien Goulard

Shanghai ranks first at PISA.
<http://urbachina.hypotheses.org/8173>

UrbaChina Newsletter

Funded under the European Commission's Seventh Framework Programme, UrbaChina is a collaborative project managed by a consortium of 11 leading Chinese and European research institutions. UrbaChina analyses China's urbanisation trends for the next 40 years and define possible future scenarios with reference to concepts of sustainability.

Members:

- CNRS
- East China Normal University
- Development Research Centre
- University of Birmingham
- Chinese Academy of Social Sciences
- LSE
- Chinese Academy of Sciences
- ISIS
- University of Lisbon
- People's University
- Anhui academy of Environmental Science Research